Let them take away the morning,
Let them take the whole day through
Let them take away the nighttime,
All I really need is you.

Let them take away the sunlight,
Let them take the seasons too.
Let a clouded sky surround me,
All I really need is you.

Daylight's warmth is in your laughter,
Evening's passion in your touch,
Nature's grace in your devotion,
You could never give too much.

I don't worry that I'll lose you;
I feel comfort that you're near.
All the joy of life is in you;
You've brought heaven to me here.

Let each instant shine forever,
Let our dreams at last come true
Let's embrace this world together,
All I really need is you.

Let them take away the mem'ries,
I can start my life anew,
If they'll leave me in this moment,
All I really need is you.
